

Contents

Executive Summary	v
I. Introduction: The New Power to Protect	1
Another Tragedy	1
Creating the Power to Protect	3
African Means and Western Will	5
Darfur as a Test Case	8
II. The Darfur Situation	9
The Area	10
The Killing Forces	10
Capabilities and Tactics	11
The International Response	13
III. Net-Capable Model for Forcible Humanitarian Intervention	15
The Operational Challenge	15
Net-Capable Combat Forces.....	16
Is Networking Really Necessary?.....	18
General Shape and Mission of an African Humanitarian Intervention Force	19
Prospects for Operational Success	20
The Intelligence Challenge.....	23
IV. A Humanitarian Combat Force for Africa	26
What Force Could Have Prevented the Darfur Killings?	26
A Hypothetical AU Force	28
External Support Required	28
Terrain Coverage and Operational Requirements.....	30
A Hypothetical Operation	32
What Could Go Wrong?	34
V. Getting There.....	35
Setting the Goal	35
Existing African Capacity and AU Initiatives.....	36
External Military Capacity-Building Efforts in Africa.....	38
Building on Current African and External Efforts	39
VI. Policy Issues.....	44
Mandating Forcible Intervention and Adequate Rules of Engagement	44
AU Acceptance of Foreign Intelligence	46
U.S. Willingness to Share Technology and Intelligence	47
Non-African Troops with African Units	48
Providing Africans with Capabilities that Could be Misused	49
Command and Control	50
Conclusions and Policy Recommendations	51